

OUR PERILOUS TURNING ERA IN THE SYMBOLISM OF TOLKIEN

What is the value of prophecies? At all times there have been seers whose prophecies can be doubted because they were vague enough to be declared bull's-eyes. However, there is also a systematic study of prophecies, for example by the German prophetologist Stephan Berndt. Many things were demonstrably predicted correctly. However, some fundamental questions remain unanswered: From which spiritual sources do the prophecies originate? Is the future predetermined or changeable by conscious handling of the prophecies? Is a source that seems credible friendly or hostile to us? Is it trying to warn us or hypnotize us into predicament? In the German-speaking countries this is currently often discussed in relation to the Bavarian seer Alois Irlmaier, whose view of a sudden Russian attack on Germany currently no longer seems so absurd. The curiosity of truth seekers is rarely deterred by such uncertainties. In the following, the epic struggle between good and evil in J.R.R. Tolkien's novel "Lord of the Rings" from the 1950s will be examined for its prophetic significance for our time.

Why Tolkien's symbolism might have something to do with us

The author of this article found access to Tolkien's symbolism by analyzing our monetary system. The symbolism of "The Lord of the Rings" seemed best suited to capture the dry analytical logic of monetary mechanisms in tangible images.

This led to the question of whether Tolkien might have encoded in his Ring novel the darkening of our consciousness against the backdrop of a destructive monetary system resurrected in the late Middle Ages. This monetary system gave birth to a High Finance in the 1600s, which in the centuries since have been working step by step to enslave humanity.

As the attempt at our collective enslavement approached its goal with the 20th century, our collectively dormant spiritual consciousness was gradually awakened. Today, on the one hand, the spiritual awakening of the people and, on the other hand, the attempt of the High Finance to close the bag on our enslavement are clashing violently.

The prophecies of a world war in our time are noteworthy against the background of this clash. While the symbolism only shows that the Deep State established by the High Finance will end after a fierce struggle, it does not indicate whether a world war will occur before its end. Although a world war seems to be approaching at present, based on various considerations, the author is still of the opinion that such a world war can be averted if enough people commit themselves to act and pray for peace.

How it came to our precarious situation according to the symbolism

If we make the thought experiment and hypothetically assume Tolkien's "Lord of the Rings" to be a symbolic representation of the perilous processes and conditions of our time, we seem to be at the most dangerous point of the journey in 2022: Centuries of gradual darkening began with the finding of the Ring by Deagol (seeking self-enrichment) and the theft of the Ring by Smeagol (desire for money and interest). Today the hobbit Frodo (our common sense) goes his perilous way through Minas Morgul (mind control) and Mordor (materialism) while for decades already the battle on the Pelennor Fields has been raging (war against the traditional, freedom-loving, Western culture).

The chronological correspondence of Tolkien's symbolic narrative with the developments of our history suggests that Tolkien also might have symbolically predicted the spiritual core developments of our time and our future. The finding of the Ring thus fell analogously in our world in the 14th century and initiated a gradual darkening of the collective consciousness. Very shortened this can be understood as follows on the basis of the symbolism:

The ring discovery by Deagol and the ring theft by Smeagol symbolize a time of growing greed towards the end of the High Middle Ages, leading

- to the collapse of the prospering interest-free flowing money systems of the Middle Ages (the time of the absence of the One Ring),
- to the end of the general prosperity associated with interest-free money and
- to the re-emergence of the interest money system (the re-emergence of the One Ring).

The conquest of Erebor by Smaug symbolizes the emergence of European absolutism. Dragons symbolize fear and terror. Smaug symbolizes the fear that European monarchs had to instill in their peoples in order to collect enough taxes to pay their debts.

Due to the monarchs' increasing debt from interest-bearing loans, they needed more and more money. Their need for money drove them to tax even the clergy and nobility. The interest money system created a general money shortage, unknown in the preceding High Middle Ages, which ended the culture of social sharing in society through stinginess. The dwarves of Erebor represent this social sharing. Through the automatic redistribution of wealth from the industrious to the rich associated with interest money, a High Finance emerged for a second time in the 1600s (after that of Ancient Rome), which has been working ever since to lead humanity into an ever worsening dependency and ultimately to establish a global communist dictatorship.

The re-emergence of the High Finance is symbolized by the re-emergence of Sauron in the Mirkwood.

Arnor stands for a self-determining power and sovereignty. Besides the appearance of absolutism and colonialism - symbolized by the scattering of the dwarves - the loss of sovereignty of the European monarchs due to their increasing interest debt was also a direct consequence of the reappearance of interest money. The Witch-King of Angmar symbolizes the activity of devil-worshipping secret societies, which went hand in hand with the money-lending activity (the One Ring) of the High Finance (Sauron).

The major negative historical events of the last 6-700 years were caused by the re-emergence of the One Ring (by the re-emergence of the interest money system) as we will see.

Deep State and High Finance

The transformation of the Witch-King of Angmar into the King of the Ringwraiths in the service of Sauron symbolizes the emergence of the global Deep State in the service of the High Finance at the time when the High Finance and their secret societies took full control of most of the governments of this earth through debt, extortion, corruption, murder and other dubious machinations in the late 1700s.

The quest of Sauron's Eye for Frodo symbolizes the time when the High Finance gained their control over most of the collective thinking with the help of the media in the course of the First World War. Thereafter, most people held the opinions desired by the High Finance in the belief that they were their own.

Pippin's gaze into the Palantír of Orthanc ultimately symbolizes the prevalence of a subconscious sense of guilt in the collective consciousness. World War II, with its horrors, had caused the prevalence of subconscious guilt not only in the Germans but in the whole Western World.

Since World War II, deepest darkness prevailed, which was further deepened by our "liberation" through the Sex, Drugs and Rock'n'Roll in the 1960s and the events thereafter, symbolized by the attack of Sauron's Orc army on first Osgiliath and then Minas Tirith.

Later, Tolkien depicts how this increase of darkness was brought to a halt - by the intervention of the Riders of Rohan - and then gradually transformed back into an increasingly awakening consciousness.

The Horsemen of Rohan symbolize an awakening consciousness in the early 1980s to halt the destruction of planet and humanity through conscious efforts.

We are in the third of five steps of a turning of times

Tolkien has depicted the dissolution of this darkness, which has developed over many centuries, in five steps:

1st step: Frodo's and Sam's arrival at Cirith Ungol (dissociation from the growth compulsion by 2001).

2nd step: Gorbag's death (end of the US elite's defection from the High Finance at the beginning of 2020) and Frodo's following escape from Minas Morgul (liberation of our thinking from mind control in the middle of 2022)

Step 3: Death of the King of the Ringwraiths at the hands of Princess Éowyn (end of the Deep State (to come next))

4th step: Victory of the Men of the West in the battle on the Pelennor Fields (ethical renaissance of the Western World)

5th step: destruction of the Ring by Sam, Gollum and Frodo (end of our exploitation by the High Finance)

The most dangerous transition is the one after Frodo's escape from Minas Morgul and immediately before the death of the King of the Ringwraiths.

The final blow of the King of the Ringwraiths against Éowyn falls in this phase, before she defeats the Ringwraith. This is particularly interesting to us because we are in the middle of this phase in the second half of 2022. We sense the King of the Ringwraiths - the global Deep State - striking a final and decisive hard blow against our efforts to create a better, free, humane and just world, symbolized by Princess Éowyn.

This last great threat of the Deep State is on feet of clay because we have reached a critical mass in freeing ourselves from mind control (Frodo's escape from Minas Morgul) and will not put up with renewed oppressive and disenfranchising pandemic measures to the extent we have in the past. When the crimes of politics against our health, against our economy, and against our freedom become apparent and undeniable to all, the Deep State is likely to collapse as a result.

From the symbolism it cannot be deduced whether in the course of the fall of the Deep State a world war will occur, which was foreseen by so many seers. If it does, it would therefore still take place in the second half of 2022. Therefore, at present we should pray for peace as often as possible and visualize a peaceful and happy humanity.

The result of the elite war in the symbolism of The Lord of the Rings

The war of the orc groups in Minas Morgul now refers to an elite war that broke out in the aftermath of September 11, 2001, and lasted until early 2020. The U.S. elite defected from the rest of the Deep State in order to resist the shift of the High Finance's global control center from the USA to China and save their sinecures. It was only after the end of this elite war that the High Finance was able to stage the global pandemic in an attempt to establish a global dictatorship. So this elite war has been history again for a few years now.

What is interesting for us today is how successful the strategy of the High Finance was to set up its Eastern Deep State as if the socialist states of the east stood for conservative and family-friendly values. The High Finance plan to extend a "human socialism" to the whole world. Above all, the people of the West are to become so impoverished that the vast majority of impoverished peoples will eventually consent to a "human socialism" along the lines of Russia today.

Our collective consent to a "human socialism" with a fusion of capitalism (corporate power) and socialism (state power) leaves them the long-term possibility of still establishing a communist dictatorship despite the end of the Deep State.

Seeing how popular Putin in particular is in the alternative media, one must conclude that this strategy of the High Finance has also been very successful. The majority of those who have turned away from the Western media and its cultural Marxist political correctness, actually believe that Putin is a protector of families and peoples and works for our liberation. They do not realize that he is part of a long-term campaign to establish a worldwide communist dictatorship, which comes in a humane and "reasonable" guise for its positive self-promotion as socialism.

How the High Finance will want to exploit the fall of its Deep State even longer

The High Finance have managed to set up their deep state in such a way that the Eastern Deep State will, through prudent policies, finish off the Western Deep State, so that the eastern representatives, like Putin, can still get a boost as saviors and liberators even in and after the end of the Deep State.

While on one hand it is a matter of seeing through these tactics of the High Finance, Frodo and Sam's long, arduous walk through Mordor in particular, suggests that seeing through the plans of the High Finance will not be the most important thing for our liberation.

Even if we see through their plans, there are still the materialistic attachments of people that make them tend toward either capitalism or socialism. This materialism, common to both the left and right political camps, is symbolized by Mordor.

The difficult walk through Mordor thus symbolizes first and foremost a transformation process that will likely be very difficult for the vast majority of people, and which is not primarily about realization, but about letting go and awakening an interpersonal bond that enables the establishment of a just, interest-free flowing free economy.

Those who do not let go will likely lose all their wealth through socialism. The High Finance will use the state to gradually take away all our remaining property. If we don't let go and change our thinking, they will get away with it.

How we can counter the strategy of the High Finance

However, if we let go and successfully build an interest-free flowing economy in association with like-minded people, we will thereby work out a chance to keep our property. The main requirement we will need for the preservation of our private property in this context will be the renunciation of interest on it. And this renunciation, this letting go, will be rather difficult for most wealthy people according to Tolkien's symbolic foresight.

All in all, the High Finance and its attempt to establish a global dictatorship is only a reflection of the collective consciousness, whose laziness of thought, obedience to authority, self-interest and other egoistic inclinations, the High Finance have been ever exploiting for their plans.

To the extent that we can overcome our egoism individually and collectively and take responsibility for a better world, the power of the High Finance will gradually be pushed back and we will become free.

It is this gradual pushing back of the plans of the High Finance that is vividly depicted in its logical sequence in the symbolism of The Lord of the Rings. When we will have reached the point analogous to the destruction of the One Ring in our world in a few years or decades, the Dark Age will be over. It will be a time of fullness and peace, which Aragorn also speaks of at his coronation.

Ludwig Gartz
author and copyright

Next page: a legend of the symbolism used in this article

Legend:

Tolkien character	Spiritual meaning	Secular meaning
Sauron	Ego and egoism	High Finance
The One Ring	Projection of our sense of guilt	Interest money system
Smeagol Gollum	Desire to be right	Desire for money and interest
Erebor dwarves	Unselfish sharing	Fairly distributing, free economy
Smaug, the dragon	Fear and terror	Absolutism
Scattering of the dwarves	Search of new supplies due to scarcity and poverty	Colonialism
Witch King of Angmar	Devil worship	Secret societies
Human realm of Arnor	Self-determination	Sovereign states
Destruction of Arnor	Powerlessness	Subjugation of the states under a Deep State
King of the Ringwraiths	Power concentration	Global Deep State
Frodo	Common sense
Sam	Habitual optimism
Gondor	Righteousness, integrity
Battle on the Pelennor Fields	Systematic dissemination of the ideology that man is evil and must be controlled	Dialectic of spreading selfishness and fighting man as evil
Minas Morgul	Mind Control	Mainstream (and alternative) media
Orcs	Negative thoughts/systems	Organisations of the High Finance
Orc Chief Gorbag	Corporate power & cultural Marxism	Western Deep State since the 1970s
Orc Commander Shagrat	State power & conservative values	Eastern Deep State since the Perestroika
Éowyn's battle	Selfless efforts	Struggle against the establishment of a global dictatorship (the pandemic)
Isildur	Our conscience	Freedom-loving culture of the ancient Germanics
Aragorn, Isildur's heir	Our conscience	Our freedom-loving Western culture
Vale of the Dead	Subconscious feelings of guilt
Corsairs of Umbar	Judgmental condemning thinking
Victory over Sauron' orc army	Bethinking of true values	Renaissance of our Western culture

Mordor	Identification with our material form	Materialism and self-interest in our culture
Frodo's walk through Mordor	Transformation through poverty	Learning a fraternal economy in a period of poverty
The Ring Annihilation	Restoration of our innocence through forgiveness	Liberation from the High Finance through an interest-free flowing economy
Aragorn's coronation	Beginning of an age of truth	Blossoming of the Western, European culture

All but one of the books of the author Ludwig Gartz are currently available only in German (in early Sept 2022). We have started to translate them into English. There is a free Download of the one book available in English at:

<https://neunheit.de/en/pages/ringwraith-annihilation>

As you download you can choose to be informed of further publications.

Our entire history according to the symbolic representations in Tolkien's works can be read in the author's works "The Symbolism of Tolkien", "The Silmaril Weda" (our home in the spiritual realms, our arrival on earth and the first ages here), "The Ring Weda" (our Atlantean heritage), and "The Ring Annihilation" (from Ancient Rome to our future). As the next e-book we plan to publish "The Symbolism of Tolkien".